

State Agency Drives Jobs with Scalable Sites

When its existing online portal began to run out of gas with its many constituencies, a state government labor and employment agency, recognized for innovative practices to support online learning and workforce development, sought a solution vendor with a long-term vision for the road ahead.

The Solution

A robust, user-friendly, interactive, mobile-responsive, scalable, easy-to manage and sustainable 24/7 Virtual Job Fair connects ready-to-hire employers statewide with ready-to-work job-seekers anywhere in the world.

Source 360 architected and built a new Virtual Job Fair with all the benefits of a physical job fair – exhibitor booths, networking, recruiter-candidate interaction and presentations - but with substantial added value for all participants.

Employers enjoy a flexible, manageable online interface that broadens their reach to more, more qualified candidates from across the state or overseas. This includes active-duty military personnel seeking civilian employment as well as spouses and other family members soon to return stateside.

Job-seekers gain easy-to-navigate online resources to improve everything about their quest – resumes, education, access to meet and interaction with employers who are ready to hire. It's all available 24/7 – on any device - regardless of geographic location.

This makes the hiring process for participating businesses faster at a lower cost-per applicant. Job interviews, applications – and success – are convenient and hassle-free for job-seekers.

Perhaps the greatest gains accrue to the State.

The Source360 Virtual Job Fair solution drives today's mission and positions the state agency for tomorrow - to scale, adapt and maintain technology readiness for future innovation.
